- I took an online course last summer and the online system has definitely improved this summer. It was a little difficult to complete the daily assignments to the best of my ability since I was working full time and would often come home to do homework feeling very tired. It would have helped to have known the specifics of each assignment the weekend before so that I could have worked on it then and been fully focused and awake. Overall it was a great experience and it felt like any other class at Agnes Scott. I would love to take another online course next summer so that I can work full time. It would be great if courses in all disciplines could be offered online!
- After taking this online course, I realized that I do better in a classroom setting. The professor extended herself as much as she could to guide us through the course, but my learning style did not fit the online class. I am more of an interactive, in person learner.
